Arabic Scripts: 2 types

There are basically two scripts used for the Noble Quran as such:

1. Uthmani Script
2. IndoPak or Majidi Script

This tutorial aims at Uthmani Script. And Uthmani script is generally recommended. Some reasons:

- It is the default internationally accepted standard
- It is easy to apply Tajweed Rules in this script

Connected Forms of Letters

Arabic Letters not always written in full form, they have short forms (also called connected form). Based on connection to the next letter they are 2 types[1]

36

1. Orphan Letters. It does not connect to its next letter.
2. Non Orphan Letters. It is connected to its next letter.

Special Letters: Alif

Maksura (painted Alif)

84

Recall the usage of Alif as follows:

• Alif ا can not carry any short vowels on it. Wrong to write اَ in Uthmani Script. X Alif ا is used only as long vowel. Example: لا عَ

مَ

نيَ

X Extra Alif ا us used with Fat-ha-tain (ـًـ :Example .) ابزا

So, the last two cases are the correct usage of Alif ا. So, the basic principle is: sometimes ي in place of Alif ا is used for the

Hamzatul Wasl

• Main Property: It can not carry any short or long vowel or sakin on it, so, special rules are needed to pronounce it (when it is at the beginning or even in the middle which will be explained

118

Rule 1: أ at the beginning of an separately readable section.
It can be used for 3 Cases:

(a) As the Definite Article "the" ٱلـ

(b) ~~As Irregular Verb~~

(c) As Imperative Verb

Case ((i) and (iii) will be explained) here since Case (ii) is not very useful for general readers.
